CITY OF SAN DIEGO

SUPERIOR DAHLIA GARDENS

Los Angeles, California

1923

Greetings to our Friends and Patrons

We take this opportunity to thank you for the past favors you have shown us, and trust we may have a continuance of your valued patronage. We feel confident that our catalogue contains as fine a collection of dahlias as can be desired, and you need not look further, as our aim is BETTER DAHLIAS.

We have every confidence, of our own introductions being among the best, and highly recommend these as having strong growth, good color, lasting qualities and straight stems. We have some very interesting novelties for 1923 as you will note on page (4).

Owing to our largely increased business we are adding five acres to our previous large planting, so that we may have quantity as well as quality.

Yours for BETTER DAHLIAS,
Superior Dahlia Gardens.

PRIZES

At the annual Dahlia Show held at the Ambassador Hotel by the Southern California Dahlia Society September 14, 15, 16, 1922, we won out of 13 entries:

INFORMATION

PLEASE READ BEFORE ORDERING

ORDER EARLY.—Your orders are filled in rotation. Ordering early will insure the reservation of varieties that later may be sold out, and save you any disappointments.

SUGGESTIONS TO CUSTOMERS.—If you are not acquainted with the different classes and varieties of Dahlias, would suggest that you leave the selection to us. Send the amount of money you wish to spend, and write us fully if you have any preferences in types or colors, and we will choose the very best varieties possible, in an effort to please you.

TIME OF SHIPMENT.—Unless you give a specific shipping date, your order will be shipped to arrive at the proper time to plant in your locality. If you wish your order shipped at any special time, we will appreciate definite instructions.

PACKING.—No extra charge for packing. Your order will be securely and carefully packed.

SHIPMENTS PREPAID.—All orders will be shipped by Parcel Post, Express or Freight, whichever we deem advisable, prepaid to all parts of the world, unless otherwise stated.

ACCURACY OF DESCRIPTION.—All description and other matter in this Catalog and Cultural Guide will be found to be as nearly in accordance with actual facts as it is possible to write them, great care having been taken to avoid exaggeration in description of varieties.

SUBSTITUTION.—The varieties you select are always sent unless you grant permission to substitute. If you wish a particular color, rather than a particular variety, many times it is to your advantage to mention the fact. If a substitute is acceptable, be sure to advise us, as otherwise everything is shipped as ordered.

ERRORS.—While our system of handling orders is as near perfect as possible, in the rush of business, errors occasionally occur, and we hope to be promptly notified of such, giving us an opportunity to make proper adjustments. Would suggest that you keep a copy of your order for comparison.

REMITTANCE.—May be made by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered Letter, Coin and Currency should be sent by registered letter. Customers residing outside the United States, please send a Post Office Order.

GUARANTEE.—We guarantee all Dahlias to be true to name, and be in vigorous growing condition when received. Please check up order as soon as received that we may rectify any mistakes that might be made. We guarantee tubers to start growing, which fact proves that same are alive and have eyes. If, through any mistake on our part, tuber does not start growing, we will replace tuber same season if not too late, or the following year. But we will not guarantee a dahlia plant to continue to grow as it is a risk incidental to gardening and must be accepted by a customer of every firm selling plants or seeds. After Dahlias sold by us have sprouted, our responsibility ceases and we cannot replace them if you do not have success as expected. We do replace those that do not come true to name, from any fault of ours in handling.

Most failures are due to garden insects, or improper planting. Also to attention given same and weather conditions at time of planting. Another fault is keeping the roots too long before planting. Upon arrival of Dahlia tubers same should be immediately unpacked and if planting is to be delayed for a time, cover the roots with a fine damp soil or sand. Do not keep same too wet. Unless this is done, the eye may dry up and not sprout although this fact might not be visible to the naked eye. Every nurseryman or commercial grower receive letters full of praise for stock sent out, and from other regions disappointing letters because of failures to procure results. A long, dry spell or one of excessive moisture and rain can ruin a prospective crop of Dahlias as well as many other growing crops. There are other reasons more or less under control of the gardener which cause failure through neglect. No vocation seems to have more uncertainties and enemy conditions than the agriculturist, which only lends pride and joy by producing a wealth of beautiful plants and flowers by overcoming same.

Hence, you will see why we cannot guarantee every one's culture of Dahlia roots after same are received in a healthy, strong, growing condition.

PRICES.—These prices cancel all previous ones. Prices herein are void when our 1924 catalog is issued. Any one variety prices at 25 cents each may be had at $2.50 per dozen; any one variety prices at 35 cents each may be had at $3.50 per dozen, and so on with 50 cents, 75 cents, $1.00, $2.00, $3.00 and $5.00 varieties. Six of one variety may be had at the dozen rate.

TERMS.—Cash with orders, or in advance of shipment. No shipments made C. O. D.

NAME AND ADDRESS.—Please remember to write your name, street and number, Post Office, County, State, and Country, if foreign, as plainly as possible; Post Office Box or R.F.D. number if you have one. This will avoid delays and chances for errors.

BETTER DAHLIAS

History of the Dahlia

The DAHLIA is a native of Mexico, and before the invasion by Cortez was grown by the Aztecs. It was named in honor of Professor Andrew Dahl, a Swedish Botanist, and was first cultivated in Europe about 130 years ago, Dahlia variabilis, the forerunner of the common or show Dahlia, was single in its wild state, the first perfectly double flower being obtained by M. Dankelaar of the Botanical Gardens of Belgium in 1814; from this source came the well-known double varieties so common in the gardens of the East half a century ago. Dahlia Juarezi, the original Cactus Dahlia, was named after a former President of Mexico and was found in Juxphaor, Mexico, in 1872 by J. T. Vanderberg, and sent by him to an English florist, who exhibited it in England in 1882. Its graceful form and brilliant color at once captured the fancy of flower lovers, and today there is no flower more popular. The progeny of Dahlia Juarezi not only "broke" into various colors, but different shapes as well. It was by selecting the most desirable of these and reselecting the finest from each succeeding generation of plants, that the Cactus Dahlia has arrived at its present state of perfection. Pompon forms appeared about 1858—1860; next came the decorative type, which is about 40 years old, and most recently the Hybrid Cactus and the Peony class, which dates back but a few years and have become very popular. Indeed, the marvelous transformation wrought in this wonderful flower in the past 36 years reads more like a tale from Arabian Nights than actual reality.

The Culture of the Dahlia

SUCCESS WILL FOLLOW IF YOU OBSERVE THESE INSTRUCTIONS

LOCATION.—The Dahlia is not as particular as most of our flowers, and will succeed under a great many adverse conditions. There are, however, certain locations where Dahlias seem to outdo themselves. An open, sunny location seems to favor them at all times. Dahlias do well on high or low lands, on hillsides or perfectly level land, giving good results in each location.

Dahlias will grow and do equally well in any kind of soil, sand, gravel, heavy and light loam. In sand and gravel they form a short, sturdy, compact plant, and in heavy loam and low land they grow tall and rank, blossoming about a week later than those planted at the same time in sandy soil.

PREPARATION.—The soil should be thoroughly cultivated, 8 to 10 inches deep, well pulverized and thoroughly worked over. To secure exceptional results, have your soil spaded in the fall, or as early as practicable in the spring; then, just before planting, have spaded again.

FERTILIZER.—Fertilization is one of the most important factors, to be successful with Dahlias. We all know that the Dahlia requires and takes from the soil certain properties; and in order to keep the soil in correct proportion, the materials the Dahlia takes from the soil must be restored. You can use dressing (either horse, cow, sheep or hen) or chemicals.

The manure restores the properties necessary, and makes the soil light and mellow; keeps it from being heavy and caking.

An application of manure (either in liquid or ordinary form) several times throughout the growing season proves very beneficial, furnishing new material for the growing plants and insuring you the very best results.

TIME OF PLANTING.—The time for planting Dahlias varies according to the locality. Dahlias can be planted any time after danger of frost is over, and under ordinary conditions will blossom in from 6 to 8 weeks after they have been planted. It is always best to wait until the ground becomes thoroughly warmed.

PLANTING.—Plant bulbs in hills, laying flat down, 6 inches deep. Do not stand the bulb on end. If you stand the bulb on end, having the sprout near the top of the ground, all the new bulbs which form will grow near the top of the ground and when you have a dry spell your plant becomes stunted; whereas, if the bulbs were planted flat down, 6 inches deep, no matter how dry the season, the bulbs would receive sufficient moisture to keep them growing. If planting with manure, cover manure an inch or so before planting bulbs; fertilizer should be thoroughly worked into the soil. Either fertilizer or manure will burn the sprout; be sure to cover with soil.

CARE OF PLANTS.—Give thorough cultivation, deep at first and continued once a week until the plants commence to flower. After they commence to blossom do not cultivate, as then is the time the new roots are forming and you are apt to cut off the new tubers, weakening the growth of the plant.

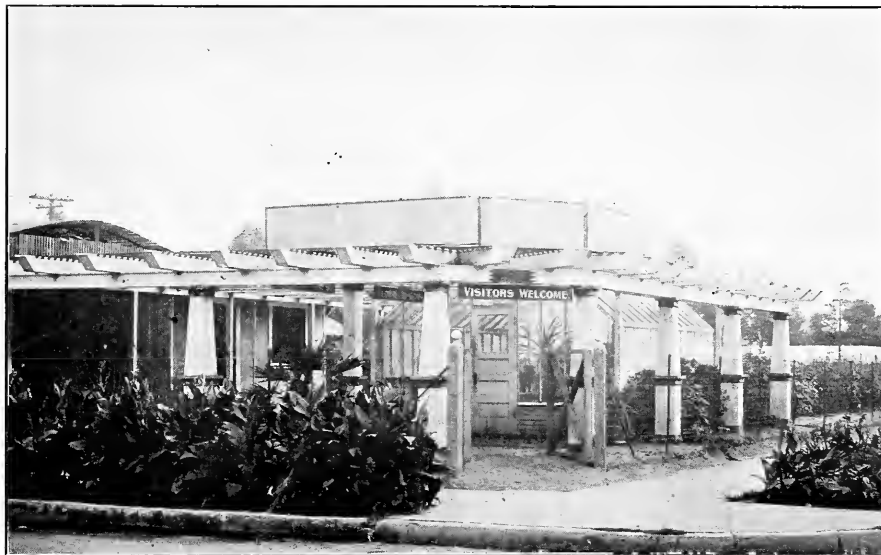

Superior Dahlia Gardens

BETTER DAHLIAS

WATERING.—The amount of watering depends largely upon the locality and amount of rainfall. In regions where the rainfall is scanty and where sprinkling and irrigation must be regularly practiced, Dahlias should be watered more frequently than in localities where there is abundant rain. Watering is very beneficial, adding perfection to blossoms and richness to color, but do it judiciously. A thorough soaking, with the soil stirred the following day, is excellent but a constant surface sprinkling every day causes surface roots and soft growth.

SIZE OF BULBS.—The size of the bulb or tuber does not in any way designate the size or quality of the flower. Some varieties of Dahlias always produce very small bulbs, while other varieties make large ones. Do not consider small bulbs worthless, for they are equally as good and in many cases better than large ones. Medium and small sized bulbs more often produce the finest and highest colored flowers, and in many cases the best and most effective plants. The only requisite of a Dahlia bulb is: Be sure that your bulb has one or two eyes or sprouts, whether large or small, and with proper cultivation, success is generally assured.

OUR 1923 INTRODUCTIONS

ARAWANNA. Decorative.

If you are fond of the yellow tones, this clear canary color will please you, but its great charm is its unique formation. The petals have a crinkled and crisp appearance and when in a bouquet gives one the impression they are artificial, but when you observe them closely imagine the surprise to find they are full of life and character. As a cut flower its keeping qualities are unexcelled. The blossoms are held upright on long stems that show them to full view. Do not miss this one..... 3.00

BONNIE MASON. Hybrid Cactus.

A soft creamy yellow streaked white. These delicate shades make this variety very restful to the eye, and can be used in harmony with any interior decorations as a bouquet. It is a strong grower and prolific bloomer. Medium sized flowers on good stems. A splendid garden variety.... 2.00

BOB NEWCOMB. Decorative.

The color of this extra large flower has a charm you cannot resist. To describe it exact would be impossible, but it reaches the plum and burgundy tones. It is the true decorative type full to the center and of great depth. It has an unusually long stiff stem, very attractive foliage and is a profuse bloomer both early and late..... 5.00

E. W. KING. Decorative.

This very effective color combination of clear amber and white with perfect petal formation, long wirey stems and beautiful foliage, entitles this charming new creation to be classed as one of the best for both cutting and exhibition. Nothing lovelier as a bouquet. Flowers measuring eight inches across..... 3.50

FIGUEROA QUEEN. Hybrid Cactus.

A beautiful shade of deep, velvety purple. Flowers are large and full with closed center throughout the entire season. We have been more than gratified by the enthusiasm of our customers over this wonderful dahlia after a stroll through our gardens. The plants are strong and vigorous and produce their flowers with unusual freedom, making a lively spot in your garden. Blossoms are held well above the foliage on good stiff stems..... 2.00

RAY MEYER. Decorative.

The color is "something different" of a dark mahogany splashed with lighter shade, the combination giving it the nearest color to brown we have ever seen in a dahlia. A monster bloom of great substance and splendid formation, held erect on excellent stems. It has all the admirable qualities, including exhibition and cutting purposes. A prize winner. Stock limited..... 7.50

STARLIGHT. Decorative.

This lovely deep yellow has a formation entirely different. It is a full Decorative type with several of the petals curling to a point, protruding on the outer edge of blossom giving it a star shape. The large flowers are of great depth and held erect on long stiff stems..... 2.50

A beautiful dahlia of exceedingly dark velvety crimson. The habit of growth, shape of flowers and stems are identical to Millionaire. It easily attains size of 8 to 10 inches and is a profuse bloomer, one that should be in every garden..... 3.50

CITY OF SAN DIEGO. Hybrid Peony.

The cut of this variety cannot give you the exquisite colorings and markings of this beautiful dahlia. We would class this as a hybrid peony. Its petals, while flat, have peculiar twists and twirls that give the flowers a shape that no other dahlia we have ever seen has. The plants are of fine habit, prolific bloomers. The flowers have strong, long, straight stems and attain the size of eight inches without undue forcing. The color is a peculiar new shade that is between a plum color and a crimson. Not a majenta or purple, but a color that is different; each petal being strikingly marked with white, making it a very artistic blossom. Truly in the strain that we are trying to produce, which will be always known as BETTER DAHLIAS..... 5.00

ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSAY. Decorative.

This a variety that has caused much favorable comment wherever shown. Produces large flowers constantly throughout the season on long stems. Color is a deep black red, with a velvety sheen of gold which glitters in the sunshine. A prize winner..... 3.50

A striking novelty, with a habit that is all that can be desired. The large, beautifully formed flowers, which are held erect on long straight stems, are of a shade of pleasing violet purple that makes this variety at once popular 2.00

JOE GLAVIN. Peony.

An immense flower with long, graceful stems. Very profuse bloomer and a good keeper when cut. Its broad fluffy petals which curl and twist give this bloom a very striking effect. Has a vigorous growth which attains a height of about 4 feet. Color is velvety crimson..... 2.50

LEX LORD. Hybrid Cactus.

One of the most beautiful dahlias imaginable. Excellent habit with heavy dark green foliage. Although classed as a hybrid cactus it has a form entirely its own. Flowers are immense and produced in profusion throughout the season on long, strong stems. Color is a dark maroon and white evenly distributed. One that instantly attracts attention in any garden. This beauty was awarded second prize for best 12 blooms with stem, for three year seeding in 1921..... 5.00

MRS. BASSETT ROBERTSON. Hybrid Cactus.

A magnificent hybrid cactus dahlia that easily attains blooms that measure ten inches across and have a depth of four to six inches. Exceedingly strong growers, and the blooms have straight, strong stems, many of them over four feet in length. The colors are a beautiful shade of deep crimson tipped with white. A prize winner wherever shown. A good keeper both on the bush and cut..... 5.00

MRS. C. T. HOLCOMB. Cactus.

This is indeed another BETTER DAHLIA. A striking dark velvety crimson each petal tipped white about one-third down. A desirable habit, being a strong grower and profuse bloomer. Flowers are held well above the foliage on long straight stems. Very lasting, both cut and on the bush 5.00

OLD GLORY. Decorative.

Exceptionally strong grower and free bloomer. The flowers are easily grown eight inches and over and the depth of same is remarkable. Has good stems with a form and coloring that suggested this name to many of our customers. It usually comes with the two outside rows of petals a solid color of red, as in our flag, with the balance of petals all tipped white, which gives this a form and beauty of which cannot be described so as to do justice to this wonder. This was one of the wonders that helped us to win first prize in the decorative class at the recent California Flower Show..... 5.00

HAND HYBRIDIZED DAHLIA SEED

Owing to the many repeat orders of large size, we advise early ordering of our seed this season. We have testimonials from every State in the Union and many foreign countries from users of our seed. Many large visiting growers remarked that our seedling beds looked like named varieties. In the growing gardens at the California Flower Show for first year seedlings, lots of 265 plants each, with keen competition among the best growers, we easily took first prize. We have also taken many other first prizes in minor shows. Having 25,000 plants of all the varieties of merit to work from, give us an unusual opportunity to produce the best
